Panel Discussion

PANEL QUESTIONS

- We want to understand what the speakers' research suggests about the benefits that could be conveyed to native fish from managed floodplain projects. From existing data, what can be extrapolated about the benefit to the population, the magnitude of the benefit, the conditions required to achieve that benefit (i.e., the frequency), and the relative contribution of that benefit within their overall lifecycle?
- We want to understand what their research suggests about potential risks to fish from managed floodplains. What data exist to assess these risks?
- What is the gap between existing research conditions and the conditions that would exist with these projects?
